The RERC shall consist of at least nine members, reflecting the university community's diversity, who have broad expertise in the methods or in the areas of research that are covered by the RERC with at least one member with expertise in research ethics.

Within the nine members:

- ❖ Five Research Discipline Experts: To ensure comprehensive disciplinary expertise King's Research Ethics Review Committee (RERC) distributes disciplinary representation as follows: one from the Department of Psychology, one from school of Social Work, one representing Arts and Humanities academic units, and two representing Social Science academic units (other than Psychology and Social Work)
- ❖ One Ethics Expert
- ❖ Two Community Members (not currently affiliated with King's)
- ❖ One Legal Expert (not King's legal counsel)
- ❖  One Student Member (selected by the student members of Faculty Council)
- ❖  One King's College Community member (staff or professional officer)

Non-mandated representatives: Kings has opted to include certain non-mandated representatives on the RERC to foster broader participation and input into the research ethics review process.*
