

HUMAN RIGHTS STUDIES

Major in Human Rights Studies

Minor in Human Rights Studies

Why Choose the Human Rights Program?

The Human Rights Studies program at King's offers an interdisciplinary approach to understanding and advocating for human rights. Our program provides a comprehensive education that combines theoretical knowledge with practical skills, preparing you to become an effective advocate for justice and equality. As a Human Rights student, you will engage with complex issues such as social justice, international human rights law, and ethical dilemmas, and learn to address these challenges with critical thinking and compassion. With a focus on both local and global perspectives, our program equips you to make a meaningful impact in various professional fields.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

1. Interdisciplinary Curriculum:

Develop a well-rounded understanding of human rights issues through various disciplines including sociology, political science, history, and philosophy.

2. Critical Thinking & Advocacy:

Develop skills in critical thinking, ethical analysis, and effective advocacy to address human rights violations.

3. Global & Local Perspectives:

Study human rights in different cultural and societal contexts, from local communities to international arenas.

4. Experiential Learning:

Engage in hands-on learning through internships, community projects, and international study opportunities.

5. Dedicated Faculty:

Learn from experienced and passionate faculty members who are experts in their fields and committed to student success.

6. Research Opportunities:

Conduct research on pressing human rights issues and contribute to the ongoing dialogue on justice and equality.

The Human Rights program at King's has empowered me to make a difference in the world. The interdisciplinary approach and supportive faculty have given me the tools to advocate for justice and equality effectively.

Jordan, Major in Human Rights

First year Courses:

- Human Rights 1020E: Introduction to Human Rights
- Interdisciplinary Courses: Additional first-year courses may include sociology, political science, and philosophy, providing a broad foundation for understanding human rights
- Additional Electives: Explore various electives that align with your interests and future studies.

For more detailed information on specific courses, including descriptions and prerequisites, you can refer to King's course offerings and the relevant program pages.

Career and Pathway Opportunities:

A degree in Human Rights Studies from King's opens doors to diverse career paths, including:

- Lawyer
- Non-governmental organizations (NGOs)
- Government and public policy
- International organizations
- Education and academia
- Advocacy and community work

KING'S UNIVERSITY SMALL CAMPUS. BIG EXPERIENCE.

APPLY NOW!

Visit us online for application details, admission requirements, and program deadlines.

LEARN MORE

futurestudents.kings.uwo.ca
266 Epworth Avenue
London, ON N6A 2M3 Canada
1.800.265.4406 or 519.433.3491
info@kings.uwo.ca

@kingsatwestern

@kingsatwestern

kingsatwestern

kingsatuwo