2 Sept 11	Model Mayhem: Exploring core disability studies perspectives (Part 1)
3 Sept 18	Model Mayhem: Exploring core disability studies perspectives (Part 2)
4 Sept 25	In-class Space Analysis Assignment
5 Oct 2	CASE 1: Is being Deaf a disability or a culture?
6 Oct 9	CASE 2: Down Syndrome , bioethics and the “value” of (certain) life
7 Oct 16	In-class Midterm
8 Oct 23	CASE 5: Biology or Culture? Is ADHD ‘epidemic’ a neuro-biological crisis or cultural construction?
9 Oct 30	CASE 6: Mental Health? Checking in on “Wellness Checks”
10 Nov 6	Reading Week
11 Nov 13	CASE 3: Inspiration porn, overcoming and the Charity Model
12 Nov 20	CASE 4: Paralympic Sports and models of inclusion
13 Nov 27	Concluding Thoughts
13 Dec 4	Panel Discussion Event
	Final Exam (during exam period)

Course Outcomes:

In this class, students will engage with and debate frameworks that help us to better understand disability as a socio-cultural, economic and political construct, as well as to learn about its relevance in all our lives. I consider the class a success if students learn to:

1. Recognize the inaccuracy of the typical view of disability as personal tragedy, deficit or problem to overcome.
2. See the connections between so-called “disability issues” and broader social concerns.
3. Be capable of discussing disability and engaging respectfully with disability without fear of causing inadvertent offence
4. Feel better prepared to interact with people living with disability labels in everyday life
5. Understand what Disability Studies is and how it helps us to rethink disability (in many different ways and from multiple perspectives).
6. See that people are not defined by their disability, but can be uniquely shaped by it.

The central aim of this course is to introduce students to some of the fascinating and controversial discussions going on in the Disability Studies field today, and to teach students how to apply a Disability Studies lens to what they read or hear about these issues. Many of the debates are age-old and, while rooted in disability, have general relevance:

- Who deserves to live and how much are we willing to pay for them?
- Who speaks with legitimacy about disability issues?
- How do we define suffering & a ‘good life’? How do these vary across people & culture?
- What is ‘normal’ or acceptable and who gets to decide? Parents? Children?
- What role can health, recreation, and/or sport play in well-being or rehabilitation?
- How do we compare “specialized & segregated” versus “inclusive & adapted” options?
- To what extent should governments support or regulate people's lives?
- What does it mean to be included? Excluded? What different forms can inclusion take?
- What’s a good balance between care and control?

Often these timeless questions have new, sharper edges due to technological or medical developments that create new understandings and new options (e.g. Cheetah Blades, anti-psychosis medications, concussion research). The point of the course is not to solve these problems, but to expose students to how relevant the questions they raise are to our general public debates, not just to the 14% of the population that live with a disability. This class illustrates why the disability experience is about more than the biological difference of impairment, and why it is inaccurate to think of disability as a ‘problem’ that needs ‘fixing’.

Required Texts:

All required readings are available from the UWO & affiliate libraries or available on the course website (owl). (No textbook to buy)

Course Assessments:

Weekly Quizzes (10%)

Due: Sundays

Each week students will engage with the readings and course content through a series of brief questions, in the format of an OWL "quiz." These weekly quizzes are less about reading comprehension but to help deepen and broaden your understanding of the week's content through guided reflection.

DS Perspectives Tutorial Assignments (30%)

Due: At the end of tutorial

After learning about the core DS perspectives, students get to practice using these tools tackling mini case studies and assignments in small groups during tutorial. For each of these assignments, students will need to use lecture and reading materials to support their work.

Assignment #1 – Space Analysis	October 2 nd
Assignment #2 – SenCity Assignment	October 8 th
Assignment #3 – Inclusion Assignment	October 30 th
Assignment #4 – Normal Charity Advertisement	November 20 th

Top 3 marks will be counted toward your final grade.

Midterm Exam (30%)

Due: October 16th

- ◆ The format will include material from all 6 preceding weeks; fixed choice questions & short written answers.
- ◆ 2h exam, in-person, written with cheat sheet that is submitted with exam

Final Exam (30%) (during formal Exam period - date determined by registrar)

- ◆ The format will include material from all 13 weeks; fixed choice questions & short written answers.
- ◆ 3h exam, in-person, written with cheat sheet that is submitted with exam

Late assignments will be penalized 10% per calendar day, including weekends, to a maximum of 5 days. After 5 days, the assignment will receive 0. Non-medical absence and /or missed assignments, tests or exams must be addressed through the Academic Deans Office. Where ADO approval is provided make up tests or exams, extensions, alternative format or reweighting will be granted. If used, Self-Reported Absences (SRAs) grant students an additional 48 hours to submit the assignment without penalty, after which standard late marks will apply. It is the STUDENT'S RESPONSIBILITY to contact the professor immediately after submitting an SRA to verify the revised due date.

KING'S UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

GENERAL COURSE POLICIES

2025-2026

1. Academic Accommodations, Consideration for Absences

Academic Accommodation (Accessibility)

Accessibility Services works to ensure that academic programs are accessible to all students, and supports students who may have a condition related to, but not limited to, vision, hearing, mobility, different ways of learning, mental health, chronic illnesses, chronic pain, autism spectrum disorder, ADD/ADHD, and temporary conditions (beyond short-term academic consideration). Accessibility Services provides recommendations for accommodation based on medical documentation or psychological and cognitive assessment. The accommodation policy can be found here Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities. Information on Accessibility Services at King's can be found here.

Academic Consideration for Student Absence

If a student is unable to meet a course requirement due to substantial but temporary extenuating circumstances (medical or compassionate), they should follow the procedures below.

In some cases, where instructors have built flexibility into their assessments, this flexibility will already address consideration needs.

Requests for academic consideration should be directed to the Academic Advising Office of your faculty/college of registration. Requests must be made as soon as possible and no later than 48 hours after the missed assessment.

As a rule, documentation is required for academic consideration. For academic consideration requests on medical grounds, the Student Medical Certificate is available at https://www.kings.uwo.ca/kings/assets/File/currentStudents/courses_enrollment/exams_and_tests/S_MC-Feb-2025.pdf.

Students are permitted one academic consideration request without supporting documentation per term per course.

Instructors may designate one assessment per half-course weight as requiring formal supporting documentation. Please refer to the course outline for each course.

For further information, please see:

https://uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/academic_consideration_Sep24.pdf

Absences from Final Examinations

If you miss the Final Exam, contact the Academic Advising Office of your faculty/college of registration as soon as you are able to do so. They will assess your eligibility to write the Special Examination (the name given by the University to a makeup Final Exam).

You may also be eligible to write the Special Exam if you are in a “Multiple Exam Situation” (e.g., more than 2 exams in 23-hour period, or more than 3 exams in a 47-hour period).

If a student fails to write a scheduled Special Examination, the date of the next Special Examination (if granted) normally will be the scheduled date for the final exam the next time this course is offered. The maximum course load for that term will be reduced by the credit of the course(s) for which the final examination has been deferred. See the Academic Calendar for details (under Special Examinations).

Religious Accommodation

Students should consult the University's list of recognized religious holidays, and should give notice in writing to the instructor and Academic Advising Office if a course requirement will be affected by a religious holiday/observance. Notice must be given as early as possible, and no later than two weeks prior to an examination, and one week prior to a midterm test date. It is the responsibility of such students to inform themselves concerning the work done in classes from which they are absent and to take appropriate action.

3. Statement on Use of Electronic Devices

Use of Electronic Devices: Unless explicitly stated otherwise, you are not allowed to have a cell phone, or any other electronic device, with you during tests or examinations. Unauthorized possession of such a device during a test or examination constitutes an academic offence.

Use of Laptops, Tablets, and Smartphones in the Classroom: King's University College at Western University acknowledges the integration of new technologies and learning methods into the curriculum. The use of electronic devices such as laptop computers, tablets, or smartphones can contribute to student engagement and effective learning. At the same time, King's recognizes that instructors and students share jointly the responsibility to establish and maintain a respectful classroom environment conducive to learning.

The use of electronic devices by students during lectures, seminars, labs, etc., shall be for matters related to the course at hand only. Students found to be using electronic devices for purposes not directly related to the class may be subject to sanctions under the Student Code of Conduct; see <https://www.kings.uwo.ca/current-students/student-affairs/code-of-student-conduct1/>

Inappropriate use of electronics (e.g., laptops, tablets, smartphones) during lectures, seminars, labs, etc., creates a significant disruption. As a consequence, instructors may choose to limit the use of electronic devices in these settings. In addition, in order to provide a safe classroom environment, students attending in-person class sessions are strongly advised to operate laptops with batteries rather than power cords.

4. Statement on Academic Offences

King's is committed to academic integrity. Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, is posted at http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

It is expected that students will submit work that is truly their own, completed without external assistance (human or artificial) except as explicitly permitted by the course instructor. Check with you instructor on what tools, including generative AI (ChatGPT, translation tools, grammar-checking tools) are permitted in the course. Because a tool is permitted in one course, that does not mean it is permitted in other courses.

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system; see <https://elearningtoolkit.uwo.ca/tools/Originality Reports - TurnItIn.html>.

Computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams may be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating.

5. Copyright of Course Material

Lectures and course materials, including PowerPoint presentations, tests, outlines, and similar materials are protected by copyright. Faculty members are the exclusive owner of copyright in those materials they create. Students may take notes and make copies for their own use. Students may not allow others to reproduce or distribute lecture notes and course materials publicly (whether or not a fee is charged) without the express written consent of a faculty member. Unauthorized sharing of class content is subject to academic discipline.

Similarly, students own copyright in their own original papers and exam essays. If a faculty member wishes to post a student's answers or papers on the course website, they should ask for the student's written permission.

6. Use of Recordings

Participants in this course are not permitted to record the sessions, except where recording is an approved accommodation and/or the participant has the prior written permission of the instructor. Unauthorized recording and/or sharing of class content is subject to academic discipline.

7. Policy on Attendance

Any student who, in the opinion of the instructor, is absent too frequently from class or laboratory periods in any course, will be reported to the Dean of the Faculty offering the course, after due warning has been given. On the recommendation of the department concerned, and with the permission of the Dean of that Faculty, the student will be debarred from taking the regular examination in the course.
